ASRM hearing

DEQ staff hears from
'the maddening crowd'

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Opponents to ASRM (Advance Solid Rocket Motor) testing at the John C. Stennis Space Center by NASA turned out at Hancock High School Thursday evening, to voice objections to the issuing of air and water permits by the state Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

Nearly 800 people attended the public hearing, which lasted five hours. One by one, concerned residents from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Kiln, Picayune, Ocean Springs, Long Beach, Pass Christian, Gulfport, Slidell, New Orleans and other towns, asked that the "testing not be permitted here."

Dr. Robert Esher, head of environmental research at the Mississippi State University Research Center in Stennis Space Center and vice-president of Citizens for a Health Environment presented DEQ with a petition signed by 5,000 people asking for the rejection of permits to NASA.

NASA intends to test fire the ASRM, which are used to carry the space shuttle into space, four times a year in Hancock County, beginning in the middle to late 1990's.

Each firing will emit approximately 350 tons of air contaminants for a duration of 2.25 minutes.

According to an independent environmental impact study commissioned by NASA, the plume (cloud of particulate matter and hydrogen chloride) will be directed by a 60-foot wall, into the air, rising with the gravity of the heat, until it reaches a cooler atmosphere where it will spread and dissipate, falling to earth in small harmless quantities.

Esher questioned the validity of the studies saying, "Basically NASA is relying on untested models to tell us that this is not going to harm our environment or damage our health."

A few supporters of the ASRM testing got up to speak and were booed and heckled upon any positive reference to a "trust" in NASA.

At the opening of the evening, Charles Chisolm, director of the office of pollution control said the DEQ was recommending a one time, first testing permit, to be followed by consecutive three-year testing permits.

At any time, the permits may be revoked should the requirements not be met or problems occur. NASA would be responsible for monitoring and any necessary adjustments in testing procedures to maintain compliance with the permits.

Gerald Smith, deputy director of Stennis Space Center, assured the audience during his opening comments that "this is not a 'trust me' program."

The Stennis spokesman went on to say that the permits demand "tight conditions for testing and monitoring," adding, "that at any time testing may be stopped."

State Senator Margaret "Wootsie" Tate was most concerned with this aspect of the permit, requesting the establishment of an independent volunteer monitoring group.

"I don't want the state doing it, and I don't want NASA doing it."

She also expressed concern over the intended mitigation of wetlands, saying, "It isn't restrictive enough. We are giving too much and not getting too much."

Boom town?

Agents say run on real estate is rumor

BY TRACI BONNEY

A rumored dockside gambling-induced real estate boom is just that—rumored—according to local real estate agents.

Rachael Thiac of Coldwell Banker-Nell Frisbie Inc. said, "The phone has not stopped ringing since Wednesday morning. Basically, the calls have been inquiries."

She said agents and brokers have had to be well-versed on several aspects of the dockside gambling issue, since many callers have asked legal questions concerning matters such as zoning.

On the other hand, Thiac said, she has not encountered any buyers who wanted to purchase property specifically because dockside gambling passed in Hancock County Tuesday night.

She cautioned those property owners who have been trying to sell for a while not to think about doubling their asking price or expect their marketing time to be shortened because of the passage of dockside gambling.

She added that she has had inquiries into some Hwy. 90 properties for possible commercial developments, as well as calls from Hancock Heights residents concerned about the welfare of their children and neighborhood.

Thiac commented that she understands the residents' con-

Supervisors recommend gill net restrictions

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

On Monday, Dec. 3, Hancock County Board of Supervisors unanimously approved the sending of a resolution to the Harrison County Board of Supervisors requesting they join in a recommendation that gill netting be prohibited from the north shore of Bayou Cadet (Caddy) to the east boundary of Harrison County and/or the Alabama state line.

Board Attorney Gerald Gex stated, according to an opinion from the State Attorney General's office, the board has no authority to outlaw gill nets along its coast.

"It is (solely) in the power of the Bureau of Marine Resources (BMR) through the Wildlife and Fisheries Department, to do so," said Gex, referring to the ability to outlaw gill netting.

Gex explained, after speaking with several Harrison County Supervisors, it was agreed a

Chamber applauds Ramsey

BY TRACI BONNEY

Past remembrances and future visions highlighted the 1990 Hancock County Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday at the Diamondhead Country Club, as Charles "Chuck" Ramsey and others were recognized for achievements.

Ramsey, the president of Bay Technical Associates Inc., was named the Chamber's 1990 Citizen of the Year. He was lauded for his outstanding business accomplishments and community service.

The Madisonville, Va., native moved to the area in 1964 while working under contract at NSTL with General Electric. When the contract ended he decided to stay, and began a business with three employees in 1976. Bay Technical Associates Inc. now employs more than 100 people.

Ramsey was cited for his involvement in civic and church activities and his support of United Way and other charitable organizations.

Other awards given at the banquet included the Miss Chamber award, given to Christy Breland for her representation of the organization at public functions; and the Order of the Battered Boot, given to Mike Cuevas, JoAnn and James Lagasse, Nanette Murphree and Hilda Bourg for their efforts in promoting the county.

Outgoing Chamber president Randy Castello also symbolically passed the gavel to incoming president Basil Kennedy. Castello explained that the real gavel was in a box at the Chamber office.

Kennedy in turn passed a gavel to Castello—a miniature one mounted on a plaque given to the outgoing president for his work over the last two years.

Following the awards and dinner, syndicated political columnist Bill Minor took the podium as guest speaker.

He gave the audience a glimpse of the many people and events he has covered in his 40 years in Mississippi's capital as a reporter. He said that when the New Orleans-based Times-Picayune closed its Jackson bureau he decided to leave the

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

Justice in the World
The mission of preaching the gospel dictates at the present time that we should dedicate ourselves to the liberation of man even in its present existence in the world. For unless the Christian message of love and justice shows its effectiveness through action in the cause of justice in the world, it will only with difficulty gain credibility with the men of our times.

Lasers: Magic or Medicine?

While you may have heard a lot of talk about lasers lately, it's important to know all the facts. When used properly by skilled physicians, you can see amazing results from laser surgery: less damage to surrounding tissue, faster healing, less pain, and reduced cost. But it's important to remember that only your doctor can advise you whether a laser procedure is appropriate for you.

Thirty-four surgeons at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport currently perform laser procedures ranging from gall bladder removal, to infertility cases in which fallopian tubes are opened or reconstructed, to removal of superficial cancers, to repair of the retina in the eye.

For more information about laser surgery, contact your physician or for a physician referral call Memorial M.D. at 865-DOCS (3627).

NASA must yet receive the federal permit for the proposed filling in of the 68.4 acres of wetlands required for the testing site.

Person after person came to the microphone to ask, "Why here? Why not keep it in Utah if it already working well there?"

Jack Rogers, Stennis Operations Director answered the questions saying the Stennis site is most conducive by environmental studies.

He added the decision to locate in Southern Mississippi had to do with more than just weather conditions. The decision to locate on a government facility, which the Utah site is not, the large buffer zone at Stennis, the ability to transport by barge in stead of rail, and other considerations made Stennis the final choice.

Staff members of the state department were present to explain the conditions of the permits and record all opinions, pro and con, for board and commission members to review "by the middle of this month."

Several people commented on their disappointment that no board or commission member was present that night.

Carroll Gordon, representing Congressman Gene Taylor, reported to the DEQ staff he is recommending NASA re-evaluate its priorities and pick up studies that have been thus far rejected.

Gordon reported to have met with NASA officials and in particular questioned the possibility of wet scrubbing, which consists of wetting down the emissions with water then treating that water.

"NASA's report on wet scrubbing is not a technical report," said Gordon, "it is qualitative, not a thorough systems engineering study."

Gordon went on to say he accepts everything done so far concerning the safety of the testing, but "for NASA to take the position that this may not happen, I feel is short-sighted."

Tate asked that the time for written comments be extended as the deadline would expire this Monday, Dec. 10.

Chisolm, reiterated an earlier statement saying all comments received following the deadline, during that week would be considered.

Lydia Schultz, president of Citizens for a Healthy Environment said the grassroots coalition intends to take their fight to litigation should all else fail.

"They have many more permits to obtain," stated Schultz. "We have time on our side."

DEQ is expected to make a decision on the air and water permit for the testing sometime in late December or early January.

Plane lands on I-10

Pilot Fernando Gates proved this week that even Interstate 10 makes a decent runway in an emergency.

Gates, age and address unavailable, landed a single-engine, two-seater Cessna near the 11-mile marker on I-10 around 3 p.m. Thursday after he began experiencing engine trouble, according to Sgt. Danny Tackett of the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

The plane, which Tackett said landed in the west-bound lane, was towed to Stennis Air Park off Hwy. 603.

Tackett added that no one was injured.

cern, and realizes that the advent of gaming facilities at nearby Bay Cove Harbour will "change the face of the neighborhood."

However, she said, she thinks the development will have an adequate "buffer zone" between the marina and Hancock Heights.

The story was much the same at ERA Bay Shore Realty, where Herb Dubuisson said there had been many inquiries and much speculation, but no increase in sales.

Taking a guess at the possible future in the local real estate business, Dubuisson said he anticipated some commercial activity from areas near gambling facilities; possible residential property turnover both from those wanting to move into the area and those wanting to leave because they are opposed to living near a gaming operation; and an increased demand for rental properties during construction phases.

While real estate agents field telephone calls, the City of Bay St. Louis is working to establish some controls over dockside gambling in the city limits.

Mayor Edward Favre said, "We've been bombarded with calls, and the word we've put out to everybody is that it's not wide open. It will be very, very limited in numbers and types."

"The city council voted unanimously Thursday to consider amending Zoning Ordinance #220 so that the city's zoning authority would be extended to the city limits, about a mile into the Bay of St. Louis and the Mississippi Sound.

A second amendment would limit dockside gambling operations to those areas zoned for commercial use, which includes property at the foot of the Bay Bridge and a waterside stretch of Bay St. Louis from the railroad bridge to State Street.

The council also discussed the proposal that the city begin proceedings to annex Bay Cove Harbour, part of which already lies within city limits. Councilmen Jim Thriffiley and Charles Scianna expressed their reluctance to act on the idea until they have more information about several matters, including the providing of utilities and other services.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Are you one of the lucky ones who have already finished your Christmas shopping, or one who hasn't really gotten into the spirit of shopping as yet.

One of the things I would like to recommend to everyone is the importance of Shopping at Home.

Local merchants have a fine array of just about any gift you would like to purchase for your loved ones and friends.

In your hometowns, many of the clerks you know, and they are only too happy to take the time to make recommendations on gifts for that someone special.

When purchases are made while Shopping at Home, you also help the area's local governments with sales taxes, in addition to providing employment for your friends and neighbors.

While talking about shopping, one should try and Shop at Home throughout the year.

I hope to see you shopping about the area.

I am always hearing good things about the activities of many of our residents, especially those who are retired.

One special group I would like to comment on is the members of Project Grandpa and their organizer Brother Canisius of St. Stanislaus.

The group meets three times a week before attending school, well, really they go to class to help pre-schoolers at the Child Development Center, Methodist Children's Center and Hancock County Head Start.

I personally know many of the men who dedicate their time, and each one will tell you that his reward cannot be matched with any amount of money.

One of the ironic things about the Project Grandpa group is the fact that they all come from varied backgrounds.

I am glad we have folks like the Project Grandpa's who give their time and talents to our young.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Term limitation: great for California, bad for Mississippi

There has been a lot of talk these days about limiting the terms of Congressmen to 12 years. I am against such proposals. As a matter of fact, term limitation would be a disaster to Mississippi.

There are 435 members of the House of Representatives. After reapportionment, 50 of those members will be from California. Thirty-six members will come from New York and 29 will come from Texas.

Mississippi will have five.

One of the many great achievements of our founding fathers, was to create a system where the majority rules, but the rights of the minority are still protected. Larger states like California, Texas and New York are prevented from overwhelming smaller states through a system which allows the smaller states to achieve through quality representation what is lacking in quantity.

In particular, federal representatives have been able to use seniority to obtain committee assignments and committee chairmanships that allow for greater influences than the sheer number of their delegations would reflect.

If it came down to sheer numbers, states like California, Texas and New York could use their numerical advantage to receive more than their fair share of services. They could force the smaller, less populated states to foot most of the bill.

Over the years, seniority has allowed our representatives to overcome their numerical disadvantages and see to it that our state is properly represented.

This has been done in the past by men like Senator John Stennis, the former chairman of the Senate Appropriations and Armed Services committees, and presently by men like Rep. Jamie Whitten, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

Through their seniority, Senator Stennis and Chairman Whitten and Rep. Montgomery have obtained committee assignments that are vital to our state. Each man has demonstrated the kind of character and integrity that are essential to holding public office. Mississippi is a far better place because of their records of accomplishment and lengthy tenures.

The citizens of our nation have every right to expect that we constantly strive to improve our system of government. The balanced budget amendment to the Constitution and a greater emphasis on ethics and accountability of office holders are steps in the right direction. Limiting congressional terms is not.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

You can make it in Mississippi

One of the most important messages state students need to hear today is: "You can make it in Mississippi."

And, that's the message going into the classrooms through the just-introduced "Mississippi Business All-Stars" free enterprise program of the Mississippi Economic Council.

The focus is on role models. Mississippi students are being introduced to five successful entrepreneurs—men and women who have succeeded both in business and in cultural, civic and religious endeavors.

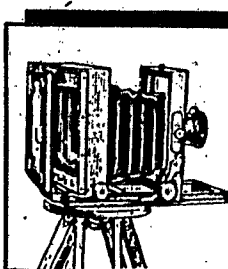

The five business and civic leaders are being introduced through a series of "Mississippi Business All-Stars" posters, which are being placed in fifth, eighth, and 11th grades in every school in Mississippi.

In the first year of the All-Stars program, the five recognized leaders are N. L. Carson, a construction contractor from Carthage; Marlin Ivey, Kosciuszko mechanical contractor; Jimmie Faye Neblett, picture frame manufacturer and retailer from Clinton; J. C. Redd, pest control company founder from Jackson; and Joe Frank Sanderson Sr., poultry and food service entrepreneur from Laurel.

A team of Mississippi teachers has prepared lesson plans to accompany the series.

The lesson is clear: Hard work, self-discipline, emphasis on education—all open doors to success in Mississippi under the free enterprise system.

It appears two persons were tried on the charge of illegally selling liquor and were found guilty. The trial judge, about to impose sentence, in the absence of a copy of the Code was turning over the pages of a preponderous-looking catalogue of a Chicago mail order house, halted in the forefront of the book where various kitchen stoves and ranges were pictured and listed, when he said to the first offender in a most solemn-like tone: "Mose, the court imposes upon you a fine of $14.98." The second person in an undertone voice demurred, whereupon the other gave vent to the following: "You sho' better keep that big mouf of yours shut befo' de judge turns over to de back page where am de pianos and automobiles."

The residents of Moreau Precinct are justly entitled to a government post office, and why such necessity remains vacant is more than passing strange. The people at that point and in the immediate vicinity receive more mail than Kiln where a post office for some past has existed, and with this fact staring one, it can readily be seen how unjust the negligence is. We understand that Capt. Kergosien, who has a mill and is one of the prominent citizens of that locality, has made an effort towards this direction and it is to be hoped that he will be successful. While the post office existed at Chautauqua nearby, the convenience was not so keen and the public did not voice the want for their post office. Now for the post office at Moreau, Mr. Congressman.

FROM THE CAPITOL

By Governor Ray Mabus

State must stop spending more than it takes in

There's a five-letter word that has been echoing through the halls of the Statehouse for as long as I've been working in Mississippi's government.

That five-letter word is TAXES.

Whenever there's a budget shortfall, or a hard financial choice that needs to be made, you'll hear the word "taxes" echo up and down the stairwells of the Capitol.

Once you leave the echoes under the Capitol dome and visit with the people of Mississippi, you'll hear a different story.

You'll hear from people asking for better schools. They want their children to have an education that will allow them to compete in the world of tomorrow. That is a birthright in America, and it is the cornerstone of Mississippi's future.

People want a state government that gives them everything they need but no more than they require.

They expect a government that doesn't waste their money.

They expect us to spend their money as if it were our own. They expect us to act responsibly when it comes to their children's futures.

Today, we find ourselves at a financial crossroads. The BEST program is waiting in the wings for funding, while our schools are crumbling and our teachers are leaving for greener pastures.

Our state budget faces a shortfall, as it has at regular intervals for a decade. Because of that, the delivery of important services is threatened.

It is a very old story, one that has replayed itself six of the last 10 years.

There has got to be a better way to fund our government, our educational systems and the BEST program.

There is hope. If you listen closely, you'll hear talk of a solution to our budget problem.

The solution is budget reform.

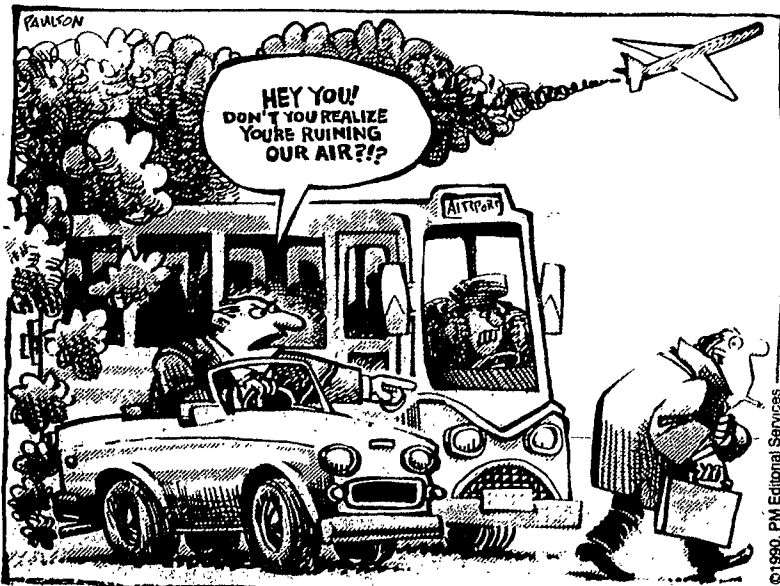

Our office and members of the Legislature know that we must reform the way we spend your hard-earned tax dollars. We need to set priorities, and follow them.

We need to stop spending more than we take in.

And we need to look at the merits of every program, and not just fund it because it was funded last year, or the year before.

That's the essence of budget reform. And it's beginning to be heard under the Statehouse dome. Now, more than ever, we are all hearing it a little more loudly.

And this time we are listening as if our future depended on it, for it does.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

If you're searching for an easy, tangy, custardy sort of appetizer, or buffet supper or brunch treat, or just a main dish for lunch or supper, you'll not go wrong with "Spinach and Cheese Pie" which has been a standby at my house for quite a long time. This dish always garnishes a table, with scarcely any leftover, no matter what time of day or night it's served. It's really a quiche, I suppose, but I call it just a spinach and onion pie, because that's what it is, shorn of fancy names. The quiche, a rich, savory, spicy, custardy sort of a pie, sort of a tart, is a legacy from the thrifty cooks of the French country. And, then again, perhaps not a legacy from legendary French country cooks! Most culinary experts claim that the quiche (Keesh) originated in the province of Lorraine, France (hence the name Quiche Lorraine by which the early version is known) as the housewife's tasty and economical answer to budget demands, with the abundance of cream and such readily at hand.

Other experts insist with equal vehemence that this tart or pie belong to German cuisine, known as a "kuchen" from which "kiche" then "quiche" might easily have come. Whatever, and wherever, just about every country and cuisine, I suppose, has its version of this custardy concoction.

I well remember the first time that I encountered "Quiche Lorraine" at an elegant restaurant with its attendant elegant and pricey menu... and my astonishment at finding it just another, although quite delicious version of our family cook's tried and true "Cheese and Onion Pie."

Long years ago, the quiche was made with bread dough; then some imaginative cook or other substituted crisp pastry in pie shell form or otherwise, for the bread. Although sweet versions are known, the true quiche is more of a savory luncheon or supper dish, or appetizer than a sweet.

Quickly made and cut into bite-sized portions, it's the tasty answer for tea time or cocktail time. It is delicious served at room temperature or refrigerated and served the following day—if there's any left over.

There are many variations of the original quiche, which, by the way, was made without cheese—perhaps with fresh cream cheese substituted for the cream called for in the recipe. Nowadays, you're likely to find all sorts of "tasties" in a quiche, from ham to seafood to mushrooms—whatever's on hand. That's the secret, or at least one secret, of good eating without going broke!

And, for an elegant, economical tasty quiche, try:

SPINACH AND CHEESE PIE

1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen spinach, drained well
2 eggs
1 cup evaporated milk
1 2/3 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
1 can (6 oz.) sliced ripe olives
1 large onion, sliced and sautéed
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
4 drops or splashes hot pepper sauce
Pepper, cayenne, salt to your taste
1 pie shell (8-inch) or 9
Combine all ingredients and pour into pie shell. Bake for half an hour at 350 degrees, or until center is set. (Six servings). I've also made this dish with shredded Swiss cheese or with Monterey Jack and Parmesan combined.

Fat-free angel food cake flavored with peppermint

Among holiday desserts, one stands above the rest—angel food cake! This heavenly high-riser is naturally light and fat-free, as beaten egg whites are the main ingredient. That's a welcome treat during the season of overeating!

Peppermint Angel Food Cake is a festive version that sparkles with bits of peppermint candy for a cool taste that twinkles on the tongue.

To be sure that your divine creation makes it to the top, try the following tips. Don't let any egg yolk get into the whites.

It helps to separate one egg white at a time into a small cup, then transfer it to mixing bowl before separating another egg. This avoids the possibility of yolk from the last egg getting into all of your carefully separated whites.

Beat the egg whites until foamy, then slowly beat in the sugar. If sugar is added too quickly, it can decrease the cake's volume.

Now that you have 12 egg yolks left over, what can you do with them? When making cooked egg nogs, custards or casseroles, you can usually substitute two egg yolks for one whole egg.

Yolks can also be covered with water and refrigerated in a covered container for 1 to 2 days.

Leftover yolks can be frozen if you beat in either 1/8 teaspoon salt or 1/4 teaspoon sugar per four yolks. This prevents the yolks from becoming gummy during freezing.

PEPPERMINT ANGEL FOOD CAKE

(1 (10-inch) tube cake or 12 servings
12 egg whites

1 1/2 teaspoons cream of tartar
1 cup granulated sugar, divided

1 cup minus 2 tablespoons sifted cake flour
1/2 cup finely ground peppermint candies (about 15)

Peppermint Glaze (recipe below), optional

In large mixing bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar at high speed until foamy. Add 3/4 cup of the sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating constantly until sugar is dissolved and whites are glossy and stand in soft peaks.

Sift together flour, remaining sugar and candies. Sprinkle about 1/2 cup of the flour mixture over whites and gently fold just until flour disappears.

Repeat, folding in remaining flour mixture 1/2 cup at a time. Pour into ungreased 10 x 4-inch tube pan. Gently cut through batter with metal spatula.

Bake in preheated 375° F. oven until top springs back when lightly touched with finger, about 30 to 40 minutes. Invert cake in pan on funnel or bottle neck.

Cool completely, about 1 1/2 hours. With narrow spatula or knife, loosen cake from pan and gently shake onto serving plate. Drizzle Peppermint Glaze over top and down sides, if desired.

PEPPERMINT GLAZE

3/4 cup confectioners' sugar
About 1 1/2 tablespoons low-fat milk

1/8 teaspoon peppermint extract

1 drop red food coloring
In small bowl, stir together all ingredients until well blended. Use enough milk to make mixture of drizzling consistency.

Hancock students volunteer time to revitalize Diamondhead nursery

"Community Service—Learning to Care" was the theme of the ninth annual National Community Education Day, observed this year on Tuesday, Nov. 13 during American Education Week.

Hancock High has many community members who volunteer their time and talents for the students. On Nov. 3 those students reached out to the community, offering their assistance in recognition of National Community Education Day.

Members of JMG (Jobs for Mississippi Graduates) assisted Diamondhead resident, Mrs. Shirley Jones, owner of the Diamondhead Nursery. This past severe winter had taken a toll on the nursery, leaving broken pipes. The grass and weeds were also problems. The students began their Saturday morning pulling weeds, sorting through plants, cutting grass and raking. Diamondhead Supermarket donated their lunches.

Through progress made earlier, the students were able to put new plastic down in one section of the nursery. The next step was to rearrange plants in order on the fresh plastic.

Through this project, development of ethical behavior, a sense of civic responsibility, and concern for others were learned. It also bonded the partnership between school and community with an increased awareness of the power of positive and open communication.

Wal-Mart's Bullington concerned with area needs

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Marilyn Bullington, the new manager of Waveland's Wal-Mart is most interested in community feedback.

"We need the people in the area to let us know what they expect and need from a Wal-Mart store," said Bullington, "and then we will do all we can to provide those needs."

Bullington has been in the merchandising business all of her life.

"I started as a school girl, working a lunch counter in a Woolworth store," she explained.

Originally from Fort Smith,

Ark., she moved to Long Beach after 26 years of working for Woolworth and Woolco.

She managed a T.G. & Y. store in Long Beach, where she and her family purchased a home.

"We kept the home after I moved to Matthews, La. (south of New Orleans) to work for Wal-Mart," she added.

Bullington transferred to the Waveland store, officially assuming her position December 1.

"We have made our home here," said Bullington. "My daughter even married a Long Beach boy."

Dropouts, ditches on Bay council agenda

BY TRACI BONNEY
Bay St. Louis Police Officer Don Oco took another step in his quest for a local youth center Tuesday.

Oco presented to the Bay St. Louis City Council at its first December meeting several thick folders filled with statistics about school dropouts, which number 123 in Hancock County (city and county schools) in the first three months of the 1990 school year, teen pregnancies and other problems relating to young people. Oco asked the council to peruse the information, "and I will return at your next meeting to put the question to you again: What can the City of Bay St. Louis and the City Council do to help me?"

Dan Welch and Joe Buccola also spoke during the council's public forum about a ditch in Hancock Heights that they say has eroded from a 15-foot width to a 40-foot width. The council agreed to look at the ditch and discuss a solution to the problem.

The council also approved a list of letter bids (bids between $500 and $2,500) and a set of asphalt bids as recommended by Mayor Edward Favre.

The council recessed to 5 p.m. today, when they will approve the docket and discuss adopting guidelines for community service workers, then went to the county courthouse to hear the outcome of the dockside gambling vote.

Weaver, Fitzpatrick named to commission

BY TRACI BONNEY
Two of three vacancies on the county's Planning and Zoning Commission were filled this week when the Bay St. Louis City Council accepted Robert Weaver and Kevin Fitzpatrick for the posts.

The vacancies were caused by resignations and the call-up of one member who is with the local National Guard unit.

The council voted in Weaver and Fitzpatrick, both Bay St. Louis residents, at its Thursday meeting.

As commissioners the two men, along with the rest of the Planning and Zoning Commission, make recommendations to the city council concerning zoning ordinances, permits and exceptions.

The commission had planned a public hearing for December 26, but will reschedule it to either January 2 or 3 since there would not be a quorum present if the meeting were held December 26. The hearing concerns proposed ordinance amendments to give the city some controls over dockside gambling operations.

newspaper instead of leaving Mississippi.

"I had seen Mississippi come from a tottering child as a state in 1946 to the point where it was ready to enter the mainstream of America and I wanted to see how it was all going to come out," he stated. "I have never regretted that I stayed."

Minor said Mississippi has run out of excuses and people or things to blame for its troubles. "Hopefully, we are at last becoming reconciled that our only survival route in this great democracy is through change. How we deal with change is going to be the true test of our ability to survive in the 21st century."

The seasoned journalist also commented on the election of Governor Ray Mabus, Mabus' less-than-successful dealings with the state legislature, and the state's need for between $150 and $200 million for education.

Minor concluded, "This is a time for real leadership to come to the forefront in Mississippi. We've got a great opportunity to prove there is really a 'new' Mississippi as we near the end of the 20th century. Let's not let it slip from our grasp."

resolution should be sent to the neighboring board seeking their support in recommending the desired prohibition.

A joint letter of recommendation would be forwarded to BMR in hope that the opinion of the two boards would weigh in the final decision. Jackson County participation in the recommendation was not discussed.

Gex said attempts to reach Jackson County board members had been unsuccessful, but at a later time Jackson County would be asked to join in the recommendation.

The board accepted a low bid of $73,687.15 from Necaise Construction Company of Gulfport for asphalt overlay and striping of 1.1 miles of Beach Boulevard from Washington Avenue to the Highway 90 bridge, and 0.3 miles of McLaurin Street.

Of the three bids submitted, one was approximately $30,000 and the other $17,000, over the low bid.

Electrical work on the newly completed Washington Avenue pier was bidden on by three companies, with the board accepting a low bid of $6,030 from Royce's Electrical Services of Bay St. Louis.

Here the high bid was double the accepted bid, while the remaining bid was less than $300 over the Royce quote.

Jake Jacob, representing Marine Cove Harbour, received approval by the board to proceed with the construction of a proposed access road from the state aid Blue Meadow Road to where it will connect with Felicity Street, just short of the harbor entrance.

Jacob stated to the board that this construction is in direct compliance with residential concerns over traffic apprehensions.

Harold "Buz" Olsen, director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission reported to the board that Calgon Carbon Corporation of Pittsburgh, received a permit from the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality on November 27 for the construction of air emissions equipment.

Olsen said, "We are still continuing negotiations," referring to the proposed locating of a Calgon plant at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

Two other resolutions by the commission involving preparatory actions at Port Bienville for the proposed plant were approved by the board.

Assessor, Edward Murtagh received board approval to keep his department open for a half day each Saturday during the month of January.

"We will be collecting taxes," said Murtagh, explaining that the extra time on Saturdays would be to make his office more accessible for taxpayers.

Connie Tadlock, representing the Mississippi Foster Care Association requested and received permission by the board, to set up a Christmas tree in front of the courthouse.

She stated the tree would be donated by the Bay St. Louis Jitney-Jungle Store in support of the association's work with foster parents.

Other business included:

—Approval to pay the City of Waveland for water treatment services.

—Approval for NASA to set up a water monitor in McLeod Park for quality testing, with the Pearl River Basin Development District approval.

BaySide Park resident, Shirlene Zoerner appeared before the board asking for compensation for vehicle damage when she drove over a protruding piece of concrete lying in the center of a county road.

The concrete was concealed by overgrown grass, explained Zoerner, causing her to be unaware of the danger.

Sam Cuevas, county maintenance head, said the grass had been cut recently and that the concrete was visible and to the side of the road.

"I have pictures to back it up," added Cuevas. Gex said the county held no responsibility for vehicle damage unless it involved a county employee.

District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson asked the board consider the resident's complaint further and the board agreed to discuss the situation at the next workshop meeting on December 13.

A PROVEN SOLUTION TO KIDNEY STONE PROBLEMS!

More than two million people have had kidney stones removed without a scratch.

Lithotripsy is a proven, cost-effective and much less painful alternative to surgical removal of kidney stones, utilizing a special technique to disintegrate the stones.

Slidell Memorial Hospital is proud to announce the availability of a state-of-the-art "bath-less" Lithotripter for management of kidney stones. A series of quick, short waves reduce the stones to sand-sized particles that easily pass through the patient's urine.

The advantages include lower cost, shorter recovery time and better patient tolerance. The "bath-less" technique has the added advantage of an environment that maintains your privacy, as you are not required to be completely unclothed at the time of the procedure. Because it is so efficient, treatment usually requires less than one hour and can be performed on an outpatient basis, allowing you to resume everyday activities shortly after discharge.

If you're already suffering from kidney stones, why suffer a painful recovery from surgery when there is a fast, effective non-surgical alternative. For more information about this exciting procedure, please call 646-0044.

SSC basketball

JV Rocks defeat Mercy Cross, lose to Hancock

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The St. Stanislaus junior varsity basketball team defeated the Mercy Cross Crusaders, 44-36 on Tuesday, Nov. 27, following a strong third quarter.

In the first quarter SSC led by 6 points with a score of 12-6. In the second quarter Mercy Cross closed the gap, following by only 3 points to bring the totals to 19-16.

SSC, obviously feeling the heat from the Crusaders, scored 21 points in the third quarter to the Crusaders' 6 points. As the quarter ended, SSC had a healthy score of 40 points while Mercy Cross puffed behind with 22.

The Crusaders mounted an impressive effort in the fourth quarter to stop the visiting SSC team by scoring 14 points. SSC, confident in the lead, took home only 4 to finish the game with an 8 point lead.

SSC Coach Andy Kivlan said following the game, "After we broke it open in the third quarter, I took the liberty to try some things that I normally wouldn't."

"The boys played well in the first and third quarters and relaxed in the second and fourth. They need to learn to keep the tempo upbeat for the entire game, not rest on leads."

The 1-1 SSC team next faced Hancock High Thursday, Nov. 29, where the Rocks fell back throughout the evening to be defeated by the Hawks 46-32.

Hancock's team took control over the game from the first quarter, leading 12 points to SSC's 2.

Hancock added 9 points in the second quarter while SSC scraped up 4, ending at half time with a score of 21-8.

Again the Hawks dominated the third quarter gathering 10 points to SSC's 7.

With the heat on, SSC pulled together to take the fourth quarter with 19 points to Hancock's 15, but too late to save the game.

Kivlan said SSC's fatal flaw was "lack of intensity at the beginning of the game."

"We started out slow and took ourselves out of the game. You can't score 6 points in a half and expect to win."

"We made somewhat of a surge toward the end, but it was too little, too late."

SSC at 1-2 faced Pearl River Central Monday, Dec. 3.

Bay High Tiger Players of Month

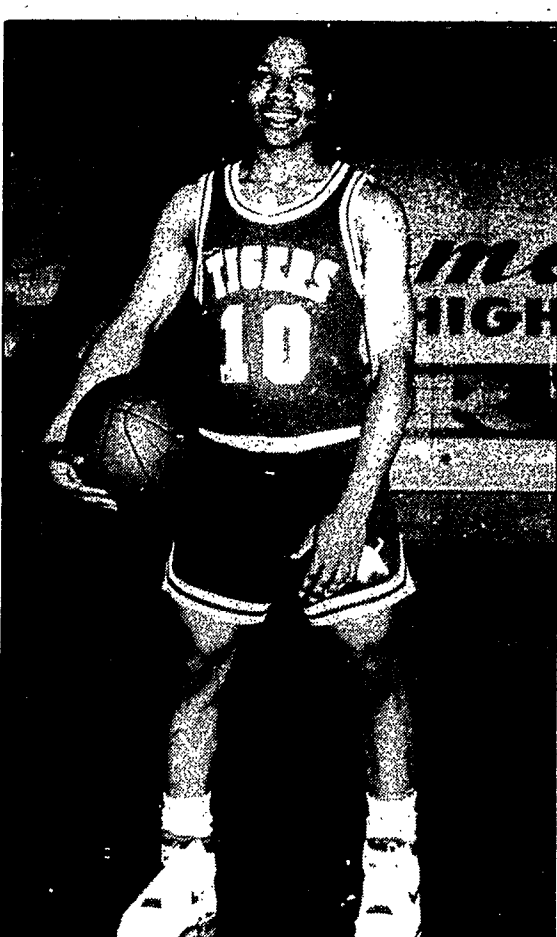

David Weems

The Bay High Athletic Club has named Players of the Month for outstanding achievement on offense and defense during Tiger basketball play in November.

OFFENSE — David Weems, 6'1" point guard, has averaged 27.2 points, 4.5 assists and 5.9 rebounds per game. Coach Michael Ladner said, "David has had a great month for himself and for our team. Through our first eight games, he is the third leading scorer on the Coast." Ladner cited Weems' shooting, leadership and experience as factors of his success, but added that the entire team is the key to continuing that success.

DEFENSE — Calvin Thigpen, 5'6" guard, has averaged 10.6 points, 2.4 rebounds and 1.5 steals per game. "Calvin has been a key to our early success this year. He is playing the best defense of his life. He has guarded the best players on opposing teams and has done a tremendous job, allowing his teammates to emphasize their offense," Ladner said. However, Thigpen has remained the team's third leading scorer through the first eight games.

The St. Stanislaus junior varsity team lost 45-42 to the Long Beach JV Bearcats Thursday in a tight match.

The visiting Rocks and the hosting 'Cats traded hoops throughout the game's four periods, with SSC outscoring Long Beach in both periods of the second half.

The scoring by periods was as follows: first — SSC 5, Bearcats 8; second — SSC 12, Bearcats 14; third — SSC 9, Bearcats 8; fourth — SSC 16, Bearcats 15.

Key SSC players in the matchup were Imari Esters and Andy Rethmeyer, who scored 13 points each.

According to SSC coach Andy

Kivlan, "We played probably the best game we've had all year to this point. I think we are finally coming together as a unit. I look for things to improve."

Tigers defeat Rocks 3-0

Special to the Echo
BY BURT TAYLOR

The Bay High Tiger soccer team upped its record to 2-0 Thursday as it shut out the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 3-0 at Joe D. McCulloch Stadium.

The game, which was as great as had been predicted, immediately turned into a defensive struggle. The larger part of the first half had passed before the Tigers scored their first goal on a tremendous kick by Joe Dobson and an assist by Jeff Dunlap.

SSC had many near-scores, but great defensive play by Tiger goalkeeper Lee Murphree prevented the Rocks from putting any points on the board.

The first half ended with the Tigers leading 1-0.

The Tigers put the game on ice in the second half with two goals from Scott Barnes, one unassisted and one made with an assist from Joe Dobson.

Once again SSC threatened to score, but Lee Murphree continued to meet the call with some great defensive saves.

Bay High coach Kathy Edwards said, "Stanislaus was a very tough competitor, as always. But our teamwork pulled us through. Everyone played extremely well, but I would like to give an extra pat on the back to our goalkeeper Lee Murphree, who gave an outstanding performance."

Chipper/shredder makes composting much easier

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

By now you'd expect that most lawn mowers have been put up for the winter, and they have. Warm-season lawn grasses have slowed down in growth to where they don't need cutting, or they've stopped growing altogether as a result of the fall drought, or the occasional light frost.

As with lawn mowers, garden tillers are about finished for the year. There's still the opportunity to mix in lime where soil test results call for it, and to work part of the garden for those early spring vegetables. For the most part, the hard work is over.

If only more gardeners had a chipper/shredder. This is a prime time of the year to put this piece of equipment to heavy use.

Pine needles are coming down like rain, hardwood trees are shedding their leaves, and most garden plants need to be put in the compost pile.

Where almost every home has a lawn mower, and quite a few homes have a garden tiller, very few homes have a chipper/shredder.

What is a chipper/shredder? It's that piece of garden equipment, powered by a gas engine or an electric motor that turns big pieces of plant material into lots of little pieces.

So why have one you ask? Well, simply because it's important to composting, and we all know that we're going to be doing more of that.

Composting is an important part of the recycling move that is sweeping the country. It is going to become more important, and we are going to be hearing more about it.

With estimates of yard trash (leaves, lawn clippings and brush) making up 20 percent of the material going into municipal landfills (and more and more landfills are refusing to take this refuse), some way of dealing with these materials must be found. Composting is a logical answer.

Composting not only reduces the volume of these organic materials by 50 percent or more, it puts them in a form where they can be returned to the yard and garden, improving the soil and providing nutrients to the plants.

Will the shredder chop pine needles and how small are the pieces? Can the shredder be placed on its side so that leaves, clippings and pine needles are swept into it? How well does the shredder handle wet plant materials?

Noise is a major consideration. One shredder is described as sounding like a jet plane, in which case ear plugs should be worn.

in Mississippi
Gardens

Chipper/shredders come in a variety of sizes and prices. The large, heavy models capable of chipping tree branches up to 3 inches in diameter can weigh as much as 300 pounds and cost more than $1,000.

The large models are powered by gas engines, quite noisy and capable of more than most gardeners' needs.

Chipper/shredders powered by electric motors and priced around $300 may fit the needs of many gardeners. This is about the price of a lawn mower.

These smaller models are not particularly heavy, and can be easily moved around the yard. However, they are not capable of handling as much volume of materials as large as the heavier gas-powered models.

Many of the smaller electric chipper/shredders are limited to branches no more than 1 inch in diameter.

When looking for a chipper/shredder there are a number of things to keep in mind besides price and limb diameter. How easily can the machine be jammed and how easy is it to remove the stuck materials? Can a bag be attached to catch the shredded material?

Protective goggles are a must around all shredders. Check the warranty and availability of service should the machine require repair.

Chipper/shredders are important to composting not only because they make small pieces out of large pieces, but because they can be used to mix composting materials and get that all-important air into the compost pile.

Lack of air is one of the factors that slow down the composting process. Without plenty of air the micro-organisms responsible for the breakdown of the plant materials can't do their job effectively.

Decomposition not only slows down, but the compost pile may give off a foul odor which is a sure sign of oxygen deficiency.

Running composting materials through the shredder every couple of weeks insures adequate aeration and a rapid composting process.

Let's make an effort to compost more and put out less on the curb. If we get in the habit of doing it now, it will be easier when we're told we have to, and can that day be far off?

BACK TO NATURE

By Lydia Schultz

House Finches edge out native birds for feeders

Looking out my window Sunday morning brought a mixture of excitement and an expectant remorse. There in the feeder with an early Purple Finch, two Goldfinches and two Cardinals were my first ever House Finches.

We have had more reports than ever of House Finches along the coast.

My dear, gentle friend Doris Hope was shocked at my groaning and less than live-and-let-live attitude two weeks ago when she jubilantly reported a House Finch at her feeder.

As the story goes in ornithological and bird feeder circles, the House Finch was brought to the Northeast from the Southwest in the early 1990's. The person who did this, did so illegally and in order not to get caught, released the pair into the wild.

Now let this be yet again another lesson in man messing with the natural balance of nature. These birds have been prolific to say the least. They have taken over feeders and nesting cavities of our native nesting birds with efficiency and tenacity matched only by the European Starlings and the European House Sparrows.

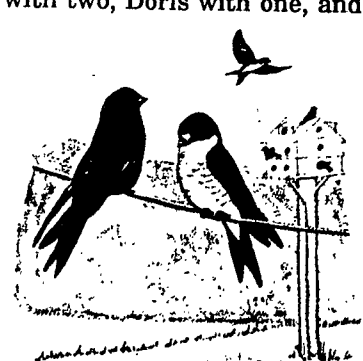

I get a little vicious when I hear of Purple Martin Houses being overrun by House Finches.

The appearance of the House Finch is lovely. It looks like a streaked sparrow with orange-red on top of the head, an orange red patch above the tail and on its breast. Not a bad sight. But...

Its activities at the feeder and with our native cavitydwelling birds will reek more havoc as it spreads its range alarmingly fast.

I saw my first House Finch in Biloxi in May of 1985. I have heard more reports of it in Northern Mississippi than I care to. Now this year, I with two, Doris with one, and several other reports along the Coast, have not been encouraging to me.

Sorry for being a spoil sport.

December 27 will be the Hancock County Christmas Bird Count. CBC's started around 1900 by Frank Chapman. They have grown to be the single most important way of measuring the trends in numbers of birds.

A 15-mile circle is mapped out and used consistently year after year. Within that circle, birders bird in organized fashion under the guidance of Judy Toups taking note of as many species as possible. The catch here is also to count the birds or guesstimate in the occurrence of a huge flock of a certain species.

It's a fun day for the birders, some who come from far away to participate. The most famous and by far the highest species count in the country is Rockport, Texas.

There is always an element of competition from one bird count to another. For a month after, you'll hear, "What was the count in Cameron (Louisiana)?" or "How did Jackson County do?"

It's fun, but also useful data is turned in. It's a way for us to measure how we are doing on Planet Earth. To repeat myself, as the birds go, so do we. You can participate in the Christmas Bird Count.

If you have a Red-headed Woodpecker that you've seen or any Hummingbirds, please let us know. Anything unusual, call 467-BIRD to report. We would appreciate it and you might help raise our species-count!

Birders will be combing Hancock County once again this weekend. Alabama Audubon Society loves to bird our area. Forty to 50 birders will spend two days scavaging the Waveland Lagoon, Pearlinton and Ansley, Texas Flat Road and other wonderful birdy areas.

Also, an excursion by the Mississippi Coast Audubon will take place Saturday. Obviously we have something here that is worthwhile!

Home health nursing

Patients rely on these health care professionals for more than medicine

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Many mornings home health nurse Darlene McDonald has found herself hanging out laundry, picking turnip greens and buying groceries—for her homebound patients.

In return, she is greeted with steaming coffee, freshly baked biscuits and the affection of new friends.

The role of home health nurse often includes a link to the outside world for the elderly and those confined within the walls of their dwellings.

Braving cold weather and rain, McDonald logs close to 300 miles a week, seeing patients in North Hancock and Pearl River counties.

Home care no longer involves only blood pressure and catheter monitoring. The advent of early hospital discharge, diagnosis related groups and pressure from third party payors have prompted an increase in the number of acutely ill patients being treated at home.

Home health registered nurses now administer blood transfusions, antibiotic therapy and pain management via central and peripheral lines and manage various pumps, all in the home setting.

Although the procedures do not vary from hospital treatment, the homebound patient is not in a controlled environment. Dietary and prescription drug intake are usually monitored by a family member who is a sole 24-hour caregiver.

The home health nurse must establish her place within the context of this environment and often rely on her good judgment to assess and manage each situation.

The stories below depict two patients and the individual care each receives.

Ninety-year-old counts nurses as friends

BY TRACI BONNEY

Beam-walking is out these days for Stanley Smith, but that doesn't bother him much.

Smith, who turned 90 last week, is a former construction superintendent. Projects to his credit include the Mississippi Power plant in Gulfport and a 196-acre military tank production plant in Ohio that is currently manufacturing vehicles for use in Saudi Arabia.

The Waveland resident uses a walker now to help him get around, but it seems more an extension of him than a crutch. His walker has all the latest luxuries—a cordless telephone cradled in a Crown Royal bag for easy access, and a large blue rubber exercise band that he uses to keep his muscles in shape.

When you shake hands with him, you can tell the band, backed by a lifetime of hard work, has done its job. His grip is firm and steady.

Smith and his wife Grace live alone in their house on Gulf Drive, but they have close neighbors to look in on Smith when his wife is away. They also have the help of South Mississippi Home Health, whose nurses and assistants provide aid and care for those who are able to live in their own homes, but cannot do everything themselves.

Ivy Ray, R.N., and assistant Sandra Saucier visited the Smiths for Stanley's 90th birthday party November 27. Smith constantly joked with the two women and with South Mississippi Home Health director Sondra Johnson.

Ray said she visits Smith once a week to monitor his blood pressure, which is high, check his diet and make sure he is in good health.

Smith teased the red-haired nurse, telling her, "My blood pressure goes up when you're around. I'm allergic to redheads."

Saucier goes to the Smiths' house three times a week to help Stanley with his personal needs. Smith said, "They both do a wonderful job."

After Smith retired from construction work in 1962, he helped his wife run several coin-operated laundromats they owned. "I told people that after 40 years, my wife had me taking in washing."

Smith still does many things for himself. He drives, and cooks his own breakfast on mornings when his wife sleeps in, among other activities.

He stopped joking long enough to say, "I hope I don't have to go into the nursing home. There's a lot I can do for myself here at home I can't do in a nursing home."

He didn't stay serious long, though. Smith quickly resumed his bantering conversation, addressing remarks to Ray and Saucier such as, "Ivy, here I am, 90 years old, and I've never used glasses."

"I prefer to drink out of a bottle."

Truck driver benefits from nurses' generosity

BY TRACI BONNEY

Often, home health care means more than taking a pulse or monitoring blood pressure. Sometimes, it means digging into one's wallet.

Edward Wayne Tomasich is one of South Mississippi Home Health's clients who benefits from more than simply the monthly visits of nurse Emily Schulz. He also benefits from her generosity and that of her fellow workers at SMHH.

Tomasich, 44, is a former truck driver who is now wheelchair-bound because of cancer in his spine and lungs. He takes five different medications, which consume most of his small income.

Because of the high cost of his medicine, Tomasich cannot afford some of the other supplies needed for his care. Schulz said the SMHH nurses and assistants make up for this lack through a fund they started with donations from paychecks to help clients like Tomasich.

Tomasich, who drove trucks on and off for more than 20 years, currently lives with his youngest brother in Waveland. Tomasich and his wife plan to move to a trailer in Pearlington as soon as it is ready.

He had to give up trucking when he started to lose mobility and power in his legs. He said he didn't think too much about his problem at first, despite the fact that his father's family has a history of cancer.

"We Tomasiches are hard-headed," he said with a grin to explain his initial lack of concern.

He still has sensation in the lower part of his body, but his leg movement is very limited.

"As far as the legs go, they're dead," he commented. "I don't have any control when I'm sitting, and only a little when I'm in bed."

Tomasich's days are spent mostly indoors. "I'm not supposed to get a lot of sun," he said.

His main outing is on Sundays, when he attends the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Schulz said Tomasich's faith and his church attendance are a large part of the reason he grins as he explains that his hard-headedness contributed to his current condition.

"The people at the church really lift him up," she said. "They're the ones who are helping get his trailer ready to live in."

Schulz usually visits Tomasich only once a month. Recently, however, problems with Tomasich's indwelling catheter have caused Schulz to increase the number of her trips to his apartment.

"If it wouldn't be for Home (Health) care," Tomasich said, "I don't know where I would be. Miss Emily has been real sweet, doing things for me and helping me."

Kamehameha royalty

Comfort, Dennis will rule over Diamondhead krewe

By Bud and Liz Barnes

The Diamondhead Boaters Association completed another banner year of festivities, fellowship and frivolity Dec. 1. The Boaters again "transmogrified" into the Krewe of Kamehameha and initiated the upcoming Mardi Gras season at Diamondhead with a coronation ball to crown and pay tribute to King Akua Kai XVII Harvey Comfort and Queen Nell Dennis. They will reign throughout the coming Mardi Gras season and the year 1991.

The coronation ceremonies began with the presentation of numerous attending past kings and queens by master of ceremonies Bud Freeman, himself a former king, (Akua Kai X. Their promenade around the dance floor was followed by the presentation of outgoing King Akua Kai XVI R. B. Boatright and Queen Nina Cotton, who ascended to the throne for the last time.

In addition to the coronation, another highlight of these events is the presentation of the "Order of the Dolphin" award by the outgoing king and queen and is their last official act preceding the coronation of the king- and queen-elect.

The "Order of the Dolphin" may be presented annually at the discretion of the reigning royalty to a member or members, who in their judgement, have performed outstanding services to the Boaters Association.

This year's award went to Bernice Johnston, and she will be known hereafter as "Lady Bernice" within the Boaters Association and the Krewe of Kamehameha for her unselfish contributions both to the Boaters and to Diamondhead.

She is perhaps best known for her performance over the years as secretary of the Boaters and as designer/publisher for most of the flyers and invitations pertaining to forthcoming events.

In addition, she used her artistic talent to design the crest of the House of Kamehameha presented for the first time at last year's ball, and which now graces the invitations to all events of the Krewe of Kamehameha.

The king- and queen-elect were then jubilantly presented to their subjects with much fanfare. The regal splendor of the beautiful new queen was augmented by her form-fitting, full-length, pale lavender, beaded and sequined gown.

King Akua Kai XVII Harvey Comfort and Queen Nell Dennis were then seated on their thrones. The new king and queen were crowned by the outgoing king and queen, and Akua Kai XVI R. B. Boatright then led the attendees in a champagne toast to the new king and queen.

Tributes were paid the new royal pair by the presentation of three gifts to each, in accordance with Krewe of Kamehameha customs. Each of these gifts bore a likeness of a crown, their names, and that of the Krewe of Kamehameha.

First, gold medallions were presented to them by King Akua Kai XV Curtis Stout and Queen to King Akua Kai XIV Betty McMurry. In conjunction with the presentation of the medallions, they were inducted as lifetime members into the very exclusive Alii Club, joining all past Krewe of Kamehameha kings and queens and their spouses.

Second, personal flags, made especially for them, were presented by King Akua Kai XIV Bob Barber and his Queen Betty McMurry. These flags are made for each new king and queen by Ida Mae Snow, Queen to King Akua Kai VI. Third, Commodore Jack Willson presented to each the traditional gifts of silver goblets.

The coronation ceremonies completed, the royal couple took to the floor to lead the first dance of the evening.

This most successful ball was organized and presented by Missy Marshall and her committee, including Gloria Barber, Toni Cummings, Gloria Gaspar, Doris Wilson and Helen Wise.

The Coral Room of the Diamondhead Country Club was converted into the Court of Kamehameha. The "throne room" setting was achieved with a background of draped gold lame; the matching gold rattan thrones were complemented with purple pillows.

Each of the dinner tables was decorated with a model gold anchor and gold-colored ballet or tap dancing shoes to carry out this seasons Mardi Gras theme "Let's Dance."

The five-piece band, the "Jamm," led by Johnny Johnston, provided background music for the coronation and for dining and dancing that followed.

Approximately 183 loyal subjects attended, a record crowd for the Krewe of Kamehameha Coronation Ball. Next comes the Mardi Gras Ball on January 19.

Learning Ladies

The November meeting of the Learning Ladies Homemakers Club was Tuesday, Nov. 20 at the Extension Center. There were nine members in attendance. Charlotte Edwards, president, presided.

Edwards reported 15 lap robes had been given to the Reed Nursing Home which will be wrapped and used as Christmas presents. She urged all members who have not turned in their lap robes to do so as soon as possible. If at all possible, we would like each resident to receive one.

Reba Echezabal explained there is a program called ABC Quilts or Blankets for babies who have the AIDS virus and may never be able to leave the hospital to go home. They are in dire need of quilts and blankets. She passed out sheets explaining guidelines for the quilts and blankets.

Tommie Ziegler stated several Salvation Army dolls and bears had been turned in, however Edgewater Mall has chosen not to display them this year. Members were disappointed with this announcement.

The Learning Ladies Christmas luncheon will be Tuesday, Dec. 18 at Angie's Restaurant at noon. A $5 gift exchange will be featured.

Norma Haas and Irma May were hostesses for the meeting. Following the meeting, Inez Olivier handed out materials, stuffing and patterns and demonstrated how to make decorative strawberries.

Hancock students construct tool designed by Cuevas

Lavern Cuevas treated Hancock County Vocational-Technical students to a fish fry for their assistance in construction of a "Safety Debris Katcher."

The apparatus is constructed to fit on the neck of a drill chuck, the housing neck of a rotor hammer or stud gun and extends past the drill bit to make surface contact.

As drilling is executed, the neck of the Safety Debris Katcher compresses to allow free movement of the drill while permitting a high percentage of free-falling debris to drop into the "Katcher."

Cuevas designed the apparatus.

Participants included Tyrone Ladner, Tracy Lee, Bert Rester, Clayton Ladner, Donnie Cuevas, Clay Lee, Robert Ladner, Robert Cole, Michael Ladner, Reggie Ladner and Cuevas.

HEART ATTACKS DON'T KEEP OFFICE HOURS.

WHEN EVERY SECOND COUNTS, YOU CAN COUNT ON US.

In the critical moments after a heart attack, immediate expert medical attention is crucial to survival. There's no time to try and track down a cardiologist. At Slidell Memorial Hospital, our Cardiology Team is at the ready anytime, all the time. Your call puts into action a well-honed emergency assistance plan. Even as the Emergency One ambulance speeds to the scene, skilled cardiac surgeons and other specialists prepare for the patient's arrival. By radio, cardiologists instruct emergency medical technicians on how to stabilize the patient enroute.

Not a second is wasted.

NOT A SECOND IS WASTED.

Slidell Memorial Hospital is the first in our area to provide 'round-the-clock' emergency cardiology care. Timely specialized treatment by our team of highly-trained doctors, nurses, and technicians has given literally hundreds of heart attack victims a second chance... and a future.

Students highlight cast of 'Life With Mother Superior'

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre staged its second offering of the 1990-91 season, "Life with Mother Superior" at the Boardman Avenue Playhouse in Bay St. Louis Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7-8. The play, written by Jane Trahey and Anna Helen Reuter, is based on the book of the same name. Movie-goers may recall the Walt Disney version, "The Trouble with Angels," starring Haley Mills.

Sister Blanche (Betty Ladner) and Sister Catherine (Mary Ellen Griffin) provide Mary Clancy (Swanna McNair) with a little persuasion.

The story began with the arrival of "a fresh crop of eggs," which is Sister Angela's (played by Kathleen Sick) term for freshmen at St. Mark's Academy for Girls.

The high school (mis)adventures and high-jinx of the students, especially the high-spirited Mary Clancy (Pepper Uhles) and Jane Moore (Swanna McNair) kept the good sisters and the audience on their toes.

The cast featured nine adults and 15 youth, all female, the lone exception being Noel Gillian, who portrayed Roger, St. Mark's resident handyman.

Gillian's daughter, Glina Coss, starred as Mother Superior; Gillian's granddaughter, Sharleen Coss, portrayed one of St. Mark's younger students.

Other "faculty members" at St. Mark's were Glinda Kozak as Sister Constance; Mary Ellen Griffin as Sister Catherine; Alice Holmes as Mrs. Goetinger; Margaret Moore as Miss Connelly; Mary "Betty" Ladner as both Sister Blanche and Miss McBride. Completing the adult cast was Clare Mauffray.

The students were all "temporary transfers" from several Coast schools, including Bay Middle, Bay High, Our Lady Academy, St. Clare and Coast Episcopal.

Included in the list of students at St. Mark's were Lorien Stahl, Jennifer Trowbridge, Becky Monti, Cecile Bilbo, Aida Medley, Emilie Magnon, Bridgett Dugas, Margaret Welz, MiMi Montagnet, Tabitha Wilkinson, Merry Moore and Amelia Taylor.

Director was Marie Bernard, assisted by local student, Davy Perronne.

Christmas activities featured during library's story hour

"Christmas" will again be the theme for this week's children's story hour at the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis and the Waveland Library.

The Cobweb Christmas, Bah, Humbug, and How the Grinch Stole Christmas are books to be featured Wednesday, Dec. 12 at 10:30 a.m. Children will be signing "Rudolph The Red-Nosed Reindeer," viewing the film, "The First Christmas Snow," and making ornaments for decorating the tree.

Santa's Moose, Snowman's Secret and A Christmas Book will be read at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue Friday, Dec. 14 at 10:30 a.m.

The children will also finish their Christmas ornaments and decorate the library's Christmas tree, along with viewing two finger plays.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school children, three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group. Programs last approximately one hour.

More information may be obtained by calling Karen Peoples at the Waveland Library at 467-9240, or Sandra Ladner, City-County Library, 467-5282.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The city of Waveland, Mississippi, has been audited by the accounting firm of Moore and Powell CPA's for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1989.

The audit was conducted under provisions of the Mississippi Municipal Audit and Accounting Guide as prescribed by the Mississippi Auditor of Public Accounts. As required by state law the following is published for citizens information.

MOORE & POWELL
BLOOMINGDALE, MISSISSIPPI

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

October 15, 1990

Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen
City of Waveland
Waveland, Mississippi

We have audited the accompanying general purpose financial statements of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, (the City) as of and for the year ended September 30, 1989, as listed in the table of contents. These financial statements are the responsibility of the City's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

Except as discussed in the following paragraphs, we conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

The City of Waveland does not maintain adequate subsidiary records documenting the existence and valuation of the assets included in the General Fixed Assets Account Group. In the absence of subsidiary records we are unable and do not express an opinion on the General Fixed Assets Account Group.

The City's Bond and Coupon Fund and State Loan Retirement Fund are debt service funds financed by general tax revenues. Over the years, revenues not used for debt retirement have been loaned to other City funds and to its Utilities System. We have not been able to satisfy ourselves as to the legality of these loans or to the existence of any contingencies which might exist in connection with these loans. The question of the legality of this type of loan has been referred to the City Attorney for resolution.

Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen
City of Waveland

Due to weaknesses in internal controls over police department collections, it was not practicable to satisfy ourselves with respect to the reasonableness of the court fines and fees beyond the amounts recorded as received.

In our opinion, except for the effects of the matters discussed in the preceding paragraphs, the general purpose financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, at September 30, 1989, and the results of its operations and changes in financial position of its proprietary fund types for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the general purpose financial statements taken as a whole. The combining, individual fund and individual account group financial statements and schedules listed in the table of contents are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the general purpose financial statements of the City of Waveland. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the general purpose financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the general purpose financial statements taken as a whole.
